

Turning Data into Decisions Workshop

Discover how sheep electronic identification (eID) can make sheep management easier, smarter and more profitable.

Join SheepMetriX to learn how to use eID in practical ways to support better production, breeding and business decisions.

SheepMetriX is an independent consultancy business working as a team with sheep producers to improve productivity and profitability with quality information and advice.

If you're looking to get more value from your data and streamline flock management, this workshop is for you.

Plan and set up eID systems that suit your business.

Develop an eID implementation plan aligned with your production and breeding goals and review potential hardware/ software options.

Collect, store and manage data with confidence.

Learn what data to record, when and how to collect it accurately, and how to store and manage information so it's consistent, reliable and useful.

Use data to make better on-farm decisions.

Turn eID data into practical insights by analysing key production traits to improve flock performance, support informed decision-making and get better

This workshop is delivered at no cost to participants.
